

Conference Buyers & Organisers

This database is sourced through Conference Research Centre (CRC) who have over 60 years of experience in systems development and management, venue management and marketing, convention and tourism management, convention and event management and international and trade exhibitions.

CRC provide market information to companies interested and involved in organised meetings and events. Their published research and surveys are used by many as a guide to industry trends and know how. In addition, CRC hold an annual meeting for planners and conference organisers where a range of topics and issues facing the events management industry can be addressed. People who attend the meeting and subscribe to CRC's information are on this list.

The list is also used by a popular conference/events industry magazine called MICE.net which is mailed every 8 weeks. The list is updated after each mail out.
