Sapphire International

Sapphire International Postal Database now offers mailers the best way to generate new customers through the most responsive database of business-to-business decision makers. Sapphire International contains over 5 million business professionals worldwide.

This unique database gives you access to today's most powerful business professionals that include corporate, middle management, HR & training executives, sales and marketing managers, IT, production, engineering, and other key professionals. Now you can maximize response by precisely targeting those business professionals most likely to buy more of your product or service.

With Sapphire International you can profitably roll-out your mailing to prospects and harness the purchasing power of a transactional multi-buyer database sourced from response lists, publishers, book buyers, seminar and conference attendees and association memberships.

A database is only as good as the sources from which its names were taken. Sapphire International is your single-source access to qualified business-to-business buyers from some of the world's most valued resources including, Advantage Business Media, American Society of Training & Development International, Oracle Publishing, The McGraw-Hill Companies, Watts Publishing and more.
